DIRTY WEATHER ON ELECTION DAY

Is Forecast by the Weather Bureau.
Is Said to Always Reduce the Farmer Vote

(Associated Press)
Washington, Nov. 1.—Rains on election day in the Atlantic states, the upper Ohio valley and in the region of the Great Lakes, with the probability of snow in northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, is the forecast today by the weather bureau.

SYNOPSIS OF THE SITUATION

New York, Nov. 1.—The national and state elections to be held tomorrow, November 2nd, will be notable for the number of women nominees and the large number of parties which have nominated candidates.

Six parties have national tickets for president and vice-president, though by no means in all the states. These tickets are republican, democratic, socialist, prohibition, farmer-labor and single tax. About 13 other parties have candidates for state tickets or for representatives in Congress, bringing the total of all parties in the field nearly to a score.

In the presidential election there will be chosen 531 members of the electoral college of which 266 will be necessary to the election of a candidate as president. In the last election President Wilson had 277.

The present membership of the United States Senate is 96, composed of 47 democrats, 48 republicans and one republican progressive. This year 33 states are to elect 34 senators, the terms of 32 members of that body expiring on March 3, 1921, while the other two are being elected to fill unexpired terms up to March 4, 1925. Of the 32 senators whose terms expire next March, 17 are democrats and 15 republicans. The two additional vacancies were caused by the deaths of Senators Bankhead of Alabama and Martin of Virginia, both democratic. One senator is to be chosen in each of the 33 states except in Alabama, which elects two.

The only states which do not elect senators are Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Women candidates for the Senate have been nominated in six states, by the prohibitionists in Indiana, New York and Pennsylvania; by the socialists in California; by the farmer-labor party in New York and Connecticut and by independents in Nevada.

Socialists have candidates for the Senate in 11 states: Alabama 2, California, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, New Hampshire, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Washington. The farmer-labor party has senatorial candidates in seven states: Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, New York and Washington. At least eight other parties have nominated candidates for senator in one or more states. These are progressive, socialist, labor, single tax, independent, industrial labor, labor, independent republican and non-partisan league.

The total membership, 435 of the next House of Representatives is to be elected. Of this number, 218 is necessary for a majority. The present membership is, democrats, 190; republicans, 232; independent republicans, 2; independent, 1; prohibitionist, 1; vacancies, 9. Women have been nominated as candidates for representatives in at least 11 states including Alabama, California, Idaho, Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, Massachusetts, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon and Missouri.

Governors are to be elected in 37 states while elections for lesser state offices will be held in seven others. Those electing governors are: Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin. Both democratic and republican parties have been nominated in all these states except Georgia and South Carolina in which no republicans are running.

The socialist party has candidates for governor in 18 states: Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin and Texas.

Prohibitionists nominated governors for seven states: Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont. The socialist labor party has candidates for governor in seven states; the farmer-labor party in nine and the single tax party in two, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Many women have been nominated for office on state tickets. Constitutional amendments are to be voted upon in 29 states. There will be referenda in 12 and initiatives in four. Arkansas will vote on amendments granting suffrage to women and the powers of the initiative and referendum.

New York, Nov. 1.—On the eve of the election both republican and democratic headquarters are confident their candidates will win. Hays claims Harding will have not less than 368 electoral votes. White says Cox and Roosevelt will win.

dum to the people. California will have a referendum on five questions, including the Harris prohibition enforcement act and the sale of poison act. One of the most notable of the initiatives is that in California where the voters will be called upon to decide the fate of Japanese farmers by amending the alien land law so as to withdraw the land leasing privilege from aliens who are ineligible to American citizenship. California has an initiative vote also on prohibition of vivisection. Voters will pass upon several constitutional amendments including the single tax measure and prohibition of compulsory vaccination.

Georgia will pass on a constitutional amendment authorizing pensions to Confederate veterans of their widows. In Kansas the voters will pass on an amendment to provide state aid in the purchase of farm lands. Louisiana will vote on pensions to Confederate veterans, Michigan on an amendment to require all children between the ages of five and 16 to attend public schools and Minnesota will decide whether to exempt automobiles from personal property tax, increase the license fees and use the funds to build and maintain state highways.

Missouri will decide whether to call a state constitutional convention. Montana will vote on a proposed repeal of the presidential preferential primary.

Nebraska will decide a referendum on a law substituting nominating conventions for primaries for all state offices except governors. New Hampshire will vote on questions of levying a state income tax, granting the governor right to veto items in appropriation bills and reducing the size of the house of representatives.

New York voters will pass on a proposed $45,000,000 bond issue. North Carolina will vote on a proposed state income tax while North Dakota will decide whether to grant woman suffrage. Ohio has a referendum on an act providing for the enforcement of prohibition while Oklahoma is to settle the question of regulating the practice of medicine.

In Oregon there will be a vote on a constitutional amendment for compulsory voting and registration and an initiative on an anti-compulsory vaccination law.

Six constitutional amendments are proposed in South Dakota, including one to authorize the issue of $6,000,000 in bonds to provide bonuses for soldiers, sailors and marines. Washington also will vote on a proposed bonus for soldiers and on the question of increasing the salaries of state officers.

No state elections will be held next Tuesday in Maine, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey nor Virginia.

Probably the banner state for the number of candidates for governor is Illinois, where 10 parties have named candidates for that office, including the democratic, republican, socialist, labor, farmer-labor, single tax, prohibition, co-operative party of America, liberty party and Harding-Coolidge republican.

FLORIDA-TULANE GAME

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

Tampa, Nov. 1.—With advance requests for tickets to the Tulane-Florida football game already coming in, the management of the contest announced that tickets would go on sale this morning at 10 o'clock at the Horseshoe.

Florida supporters took a brace with their hopes when Michigan defeated Tulane and Florida made an easy victim of the Mercer eleven. The "Gators" showed a world of class in the bout with the strong Georgia team. One of the largest crowds that ever witnessed the game here is expected to be on hand at Plant field Saturday when the Crescent City aggregation locks horns with the Florida clan.

Those desiring tickets in advance may secure them at the Horseshoe today or thereafter, or by mail from Gilbert Freeman, care of the Tribune. All A. T. O's wishing seats should get into communication with Clarence Holsinger, as he has secured a block of box seats for that fraternity.

Automobile spaces on the sidelines including admission for four people will sell at $7.50. Ringside seats, a new feature at football games here are selling at $2 each, and box seats including admission are selling at $1.50. All these seats may be purchased in advance.

A TIMELY WARNING FROM

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

With the influx of winter visitors into the state of Florida, many of whom are making the trip from their home state in automobiles, others purchasing cars on their arrival here and even the railway travelers increasing the automobile traffic by the use of "for hire" cars, another note of warning is sounded to autoists and pedestrians. Acting on the convincing evidence of the vital records of the state which testify that automobile accidents are more frequent during the winter months, due undoubtedly to the increase in traffic, state officials are appealing to visitors and citizens alike to strictly adhere to traffic rules in driving and to use care and common sense in walking and driving.

Last year the highest number of deaths caused by automobile accidents occurred in January. This being the peak of the tourist season goes to prove that the increase in population tends to increase the number of deaths in the state caused by carelessness either on the part of drivers or pedestrians. During the entire year 57 deaths resulted from automobile accidents, according to statistics from the state board of health. Of this number 45 were men and all but ten were white. Twenty per cent of the victims were children under ten years of age and a large per cent of the total number occurred during the tourist months, when traffic is most congested.

Figures for 1919 are indicative of conditions in preceding years. They impress upon the public the necessity of better observance of traffic rules both in towns and cities and on the open road. Unfamiliarity with local traffic rules is believed to be the cause of a number of accidents, a condition which should be overcome by devising some means of putting the rules before the traveling public before or on their arrival in the state, say officials.
